Honourable Collegae.
Honourable Colleagues,

This is a medical report on the upon mentioned patient.
She was first diagnosed in May 2007:

- Acute lymphatic leukaemia (B II) beginning with pains in the legs as clinical symptoms.

After chemotherapy regime recidiv came up, so a new therapy had been found to be done, followed by sepsis and candida enteropathia, nephrotoxic and hepatotoxic reactions as it is usual in this disease.

So the patient underwent here specific immuno therapy (SIT).

We treated with patients own antibodies and cytokines, derived by her own activated white blood cells against pure mechanically unmasked ALL-cells in vitro. Parallel we gave Ciprofloxacin and virustatic therapy with Delimmun, Aciclovir after there was found a positivity for acute Cytomegalie virus infection. For Candida infection we gave Amphotericin B orally.

Under this therapy regime patient improved very well. There were no more blasts in the peripheral blood. Also C-Reactive Protein lowed down.

For further investigation and documentation of the actual situation, and in special to decide, which distance we need patient back for further treatment, we would appreciate highly, if there could be done the following laboratory results:

Weekly:

- The usual blood count and differential blood count,
- C-reactive protein (CRP),
- Liver enzymes (GOT, GPT, Gamma GT, Alkaline Phosphatase)
- Kidney results (Kreatinin, Bun and Uric Acid)

As well as in addition

every second week:

- Thymidinkinase

We would appreciate highly, if these laboratory results could be send to us, so that we can make our proposals and decisions.

For further information please feel free, to contact us, in special also if the therapy regime, that was done here, is not explained for you well enough. So for better understanding also please contact us under the above mentioned telephone number. During the Christmas holidays we are reachable under our emergency cell phone number
